

Bellafina Chocolates donating profits to charity

by Jessica Griffith Friday, December 11th 2015

Bellafina Chocolates in Kingsport is giving all of its profits to charities that help children.

The gourmet chocolate company has a new production facility and gift shop. News 5 was there for the grand opening and ribbon cutting this morning at 123 Cherokee Street in downtown.

Brenda Barnicki, the founder of the company says they've written checks to charities for thousands of dollars, but she hopes one day she'll be writing a $1 million dollar check, which she thinks will happen thanks to Bellafina supporters.

"This is a great community to grow a business in and we've been so blessed with so many volunteers and supporters that have really made this happen," she said.

And as if chocolate lovers needed anymore good news? They're hoping to open a chocolate dessert cafe in the next year or so!
